TROOPS DRIVE STRIKERS: GEN. GOBIN'S SOLDIERS HAVE EARLY

MORNING ENCOUNTER. Mob of Striking Miners Had Attacked Workers in the Panther Creck District With Stones and Clubs - Another Encounter Expected to Occur To-day, as the Strikers Are Ugly, TAMAQUA, Pa., Oct. 16 .- This old anthracite coal town is filled to-night with strikers from distant points, and Gen. Gobin's State soldiery are in camp in Manila Park, two miles away, all ready for any emergency in the morning. Other soldiers are at Coaldale, others at Summit Hill and others at Lansford and other points in the Panther Creek Valley, where 7.000 miners of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company want to continue at work, while the strikers are bent upon terrifying them into emaining at home. The ten collieries continuing at work all during the strike have been an eyesore to those who quit work. This morning the strikers determined upon a grand raid to take place at dawn to scare and terrify the miners to desert the coilieries, and tie them up. The strikers came from Hazieton McAdoo and a dozen different towns along the we routes leading into Panther Valley. The first division of strikers headed for Nesquehoning and the second division came here to start into the valley by way of Coaldale. Fortunately the march of the miners was known to Sheriff Toole, and he wired the tip to Gen. Gobin in time to have the Fourth Regiment of the State National Guard on the move at midnight in time to be rushed forward by special train. At Nesquehoning, or Colliery No. 3, at dawn the paraders met the mine workers while going to work and attacked them. A lively fight followed, in which two non-union men were badly hurt. This colliery is now tied up. Stones and clubs were freely used as weapons. After the 300 miners had been terrined, the mob

After the 300 miners had been terrified, the mob heard the soldlers were coming and they decamped into the hills.

The troops reached here at 2 A. M. Gen. Gobin was advised of the action of the strikers. In order to intercept them the train was run through a place called Seek, or No. 10 Collegry, about four miles from this place. Here six of the companies got off the train and the other two companies proceeded to Nesquehoning. Col. O'Neill had charge of the six companies and Gen. Gobin remained with the other two.

companies and Gen. Gobin remained with the other two.

The second body of the strikers, 2,000 strong, reached Tamaqua at 2:30 A. M., amid a perfect din of horn-blowing, cheering for Mitchell, and other noises. Residents were alarmed. The strikers in a body then took up their line of march to Coaldale, four miles away. Mother Jones and sixty women were in wagons. A few carriages ahead contained the newspaper men. As soon as the soldiers alighted at collery No. 10 they started by the road back in the direction of Tamaqua. They had not gone more than a mile when, at 3 A. M., they met the head of the marching strikers from Tamaqua. It was as dark as pitch and very loggy. Col. O'Neill, in a loud voice, commanded the strikers to halt. They did so. He then said: "I want you people to disp reservable to the said: "I want you people to disp reservable to the content of the "We are on our way to Summit Hill," replied

About thirty of the strikers were arrested by Sheriff Toole and his deputies near No. 10 breaker. Four of these were let go and the others held. It is estimated that there were at least 4.000 strikers in the two marching divisions. They had a number of drums. Many of them had revolvers, but there was no shooting. The Fourth Regiment is encamped at Mineral Park, two and one-half milers from Tamaqua. When Gen, Gobin started to head off the other divisions of marchers they elude him and landed at Coaldale. Striking miners are coming in by the handreds from the neight and it will have the effect of closing every colliery in the Panther Creek Valley in a day or two. Dozens of wagons are filled with striking miners. Brefilled with strike missionaries, who have plenty of provisions for a week's work among the here will ever the miners who want to work.

STRIKERS HOLD MEETINGS.

Men Try to Work To-day.

ANSFORD, Pa., Oct. 16.—This section of the Panther Creek Valley is very much excited tonight. The strikers that clos d Nesqueboning colliery fled to the hills, but returned to-night.

colliery fled to the hills, but returned to-night. Those who were driven to Tamaqua also escaped to the hills, but at nightfall returned to the various towns in the valley.

To-night strike meetings are being held at Nesquehoning, Coa dale and Lansford. Violent speeches were made. Mother Jones was at Coaldale. Other leaders were at the towns just named. The meetings were largely attented and the miners were at a high pitch of excitement. Many of the women in the parade attended the meetings and urged the tie-up. The strikers say they may have 20,000 men in Panther Valley by to-morrow. Carbon county's Sheriff and deputtes want the military early astir and blood-hed is feared if the miners attempt to go to work. It is probable that, to restore peace, the men will remain at home.

NO NEARER A SETTLEMENT. Operators Have Not Been Informed of the Action of the Miners' Convention. WILKES-HARRE, Pa., Oct. 16.-Not a single emmittee of the strikers has called on the operators to present the propositions formulated by the convention at Scranton on Saturday. As the convention admitted that a presentation by a committee from each colliery was the only way in which the operators could be approached, this delay of two days is not understood. The operators themselves, who expected the committees on Monday, cannot explain it and the strikers will not. They admitted that many of the local unions held meetings and appointed committees, but will not say when they were instructed to see the operators. The expectation of the strike ending tomorrow, which cheered so many of the strikers yesterday and to-day, is vanishing to-night as the strikers have failed to receive any news from headquarters to that effect, and as the

as the strikers have failed to receive any news from headquarters to that effect, and as the operators are still unanimous in their determination to grant no more than the 10 per cent. Which they offered two weeks ago to-day.

General Superintendent Lathrop of the Lehigh Valley Company said this evening: "There is not the least sign of weakness on the part of the operators. None will give in We made a fair offer and will stand by it. There is not the slightest indication of the strike being ended to-morrow or Thursday."

A prominent operator, whose company has not even offered a 10 per cent increase, but is quietly writing to see what the outcome of the conditions is, expressed himself freely on the situation to-day. He said:

"Mirchell is eager to accept the offer of 10 per cent, but he dare not, because it would cost him his official head. Neither can he use the funds of the union's national treasury to help the men, because there is not much more than $100,000 in it and that would not go far toward keeping 130,000 men and boys. The trouble is that Mitchell is governed and the convention was governed by outside influences. The convention would have adopted the 10 per cent, offer if it had not been bullied into doing as the leaders desired, and they had a hard time at that. That firebrand. Mother Jones, saved the day by appending to the delegates, and the demand for a contract to keep the increase in force until April I was attached to the acceptance of the 10 per cent. And it was attached because the leaders knew the operators would not grant it. W. D. Ryan, the secretary-treasurer of the Illinois State Union of Mine Workers, is the man who insisted upon that, and he did it in order to keep the strike on until after election. He governs Mitchell, who, until Ryan took him up, was a little local leader in Spring Valley, Ill. Ryan made him vicepresident, but he owes all to Ryan. Ryan came on to Scranton for political purposes and accompilished what he wanted. If conditions remain the same as they have been there

Mr. Osborne then tried to get from Mr. Wetherhee the story of the affidavit he made in January, 1990, in which he charges Jones with offering to make him an executor of Rice's will if he, Wetherhee, would divide the executor's fees with Jones. Mr. House objected on the ground that such evidence too far ante-dated the commission of the crime charged and also because it had no connection with the forgery. The Court took the question under advisement.

PAUPERS MUST NOT VOTE.

COURT OF APPEALS UPHOLDS A CON-TENTION OF SUPT. M'CULLAGH.

Courts Against the Driving of Bellevue Helpers to the Polls to Vote the Tammany Ticket Ends in the Triumph of the Pure Ballot. The Court of Appeals yesterday handed down one of the most important decisions of recent years affecting the registration of voters from public institutions. The practical effect of the decision is to establish the rule that under the provisions of the Constitution no person can claim a voting residence from an institution supported in whole or in part by public or private charity. The case in which the decision was rendered was that of Frank McShane, who registered as a voter from Bellevue Hospital at the last election and was arrested by order of John McCullagh, the State Superintendent of Elections, on the charge of illegal registration. "For two years," said Supt. McCullagh yesterday, "I have contended that no person in the public institutions had a right to vote therefrom, and in 1898, the first year of the establishment of this department, I caused the arrest of 147 persons from these public institutions who had registered for the election of that year. Sixty-four of these cases were dismissed by District Attorney Gardiner in one afternoon. Twenty-seven of the prisoners were indicted by the Grand Jury of 1898, and in the only case tried a conviction was secured before Judge Cowing. At the request of the counsel for the defendants, and upon the request of the District Attorney, who stated in a letter to me that no further attempt would be made to violate the law, I joined in a request to Judge Cowing that the remaining indictments be dismissed. In 1899, through the connivance of the persons interested in securing registration from the public institutions, a fake case was presented to Justice Bookstaver, asking that the name of a person registered from the City Lodging House be stricken from the register. Upon a misleading statement of facts in the moving papers, Justice Bookstaver, prior to the last two days of registration of 1899, refused to strike the name from the register of election, on the ground that the man registered had a contract which gave him his board, ledging and clothes in return for services performed and was entitled to register.

"As a result of the decision of Justice Bookstaver a large number of paid and unpaid helpers from the various institutions of the city registered as voters from those institutions for the election of 1899. I ordered the arrest of the persons so registered and warrants for their apprehension were issued by Magistrate Olmsted. In attempting to execute the warrants on the day of election, before these men voted my deputies came into a serious clash with the police under command of Capt. Haswith the police under command of Capt. Hasslacher, who ordered out the reserves with the avowed intention of preventing any interference with the alleged voters until after they had voted. I myself arrested McShane despite the interference and he was held for the Grand Jury on a charge of illegal registration and voting. McShane's counsel secured a writ of habeas corpus and certiciari and the Supreme Court ordered McShane released. The Court of Appeals has now upheld my contentions and a large number of similar cases will now be prosecuted to a final conclusion.
The decision of the Court of Appeals, however, places the police in a delicate position owing to their interference with the State Superintendent of Elections in what the Court of Appeals has decid dwas his duty. If the court had decided adversely all my work of the past two years would have been useless, but this settles
the question for the whole State.
